TWIN DISC BECOMES VETH PROPULSION DISTRIBUTOR

Global marine propulsion manufacturer Veth Propulsion has named Twin Disc as its new US distributor. The announcement was made on May 24 at the ITS Convention and Exhibition in Boston, Massachusetts by Erik Veth, Veth Propulsion general manager and Tim Batten, Twin Disc Director of Global Marine Sales.

Twin Disc recently became a Veth distributor for select Asian markets. Its new territory is the US, except for the Gulf Coast region which will be covered by Veth's new sub-distributor, Sewart Supply. This partnership was also announced at ITS by Veth and Allie Adams, Sewart Supply VP of operations.

The strategic agreement provides Veth access to the extensive and robust Twin Disc sales and service network. Additionally, Twin Disc now offers its customers Veth's broad range of commercial marine products.

Veth and Twin Disc share a drive to bring new, transforming technologies to the marketplace. Their equipment is built to the highest standards and is in use on countless inland, coastal and offshore vessels worldwide.

For 65 years, Netherlands-based Veth Propulsion has developed and manufactured innovative propulsion solutions for workboats, megayachts and shipping. It's online at www.vethpropulsion.com.
